Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 21 December 2002.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-92 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claim 14 recites the limitation "the first hub" in line 15-16 of claim 14. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-92 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hawkins et al ("Hawkins", US 6,006,274) in view of Sheth et al ("Sheth", US 2002/0194502).

As per claim 1, Hawkins discloses method for managing a combination of family related matters and work-related matters, the method comprising the acts of: collecting personal information related to a family manager's personal life and work information related to the family manager's work life at a host computer (Column 4 lines 26-36); communicating the personal information and the work information from the host computer to a first device dedicated to the family manager (Column 3 lines 1-10). Hawkins fails to distinctly point out communicating specific information to different devices. However, Sheth teaches communicating only the personal information from the host computer to at least one second device dedicated to at least one person in a personal sphere of the family manager ([0193] lines 1-9); and communicating only the work information from the host to at least one third device dedicated to at least one person in a work sphere of the family manager ([0193] lines 1-9). Therefore it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention to combine the method of Hawkins with the teaching of Sheth. Motivation to do so would have been to resolve conflicts while scheduling meetings and set reminders for family and work groups.

As per claim 2, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method, wherein the host computer comprises a private host computer (Hawkins, Column 14 lines 26-36).

As per claim 3, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method, wherein the host computer comprises a public host computer (Sheth, [0047] lines 6-12).

As per claim 4, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the host computer comprises a single host computer (Hawkins, Column 3 lines 1-11).

As per claim 5, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the host computer comprises at least two host computers (Hawkins, Column 4 lines 26-36).

As per claim 6, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the devices comprise e-mail capability (Sheth, [0195], lines 1-11).

As per claim 7, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the devices comprise calendaring capability (Sheth, [0194] lines 1-4).

As per claim 8, which is dependent on claim 7, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the first device comprises at least one calendar corresponding to the merger of personal information and work information comprising at least one of a daily merged calendar, a weekly merged calendar, and a monthly merged calendar (Sheth, [0194] lines 1-4, [0195] lines 1-11).

As per claim 9, which is dependent on claim 7, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the second device comprises at least one calendar corresponding to the merger of personal information and work information comprising at least one of a daily merged calendar, a weekly merged calendar, and a monthly merged calendar (Sheth, [0194] lines 1-4, [0195] lines 1-11).

As per claim 10, which is dependent on claim 7, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the third device comprises at least one calendar corresponding to the merger of personal information and work information comprising at least one of a daily merged calendar, a weekly merged calendar, and a monthly merged calendar (Sheth, [0194] lines 1-4, [0195] lines 1-11).

As per claim 11, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the devices comprise computing capability (Hawkins, Column 3 lines 1-10).

As per claim 12, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein at least one of the devices comprise a personal digital assistant (Hawkins, Figure 1 item 130).

As per claim 13, which is dependent on claim 1, Hawkins-Sheth teach a method wherein the acts of communicating are performed via an Internet link (Sheth, [0096] lines 1-11).

Claims 14,34,47,67,80,are individually similar in scope to that of claim 1, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 15,35,48,68,81 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 2, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 16,36,49,69,82 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 3, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 17,19, 37,50,52,70,83 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 4, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 18,20,38,51,53,71,84 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 5, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

As per claim 21, which is dependent on claim 14, Hawkins-Sheth disclose a method wherein the first host computer and the second host computer comprise the same computer (Hawkins, Column 3 lines 1-11).

As per claim 22, which is dependent on claim 14, Hawkins-Sheth disclose a method, wherein the first host computer and the second host computer comprise different computers (Hawkins, Column 4 lines 26-35).

Claims 23,39,56,72,85 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 6, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 24,40,57,73,86 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 7, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 25-30,41-43,58-63,74-76,87-89 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 8, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 31,44,64,77,90 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 11, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 32,45,65,78,91 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 12, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 33,46,66,79,92 are individually similar in scope to that of claim 13, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claim 54 is similar in scope to that of claim 21, and is therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claim 55 is similar in scope to that of claim 22, and is therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
